

PRESS RELEASE

Live at EuroCIS: orderbird and ConCardis present cashless payments with Apple Pay

Berlin/Eschborn, 23 February 2015 – orderbird and ConCardis will be presenting live cashless transactions with Apple Pay at the ConCardis stand A42 in hall 9 at EuroCIS. The integrated payment solution from orderbird and ConCardis is compatible with the new payment service from Apple, which has previously only been available in the United States. It enables cafe and restaurant operators who use an iPad POS system from orderbird with a mobile card reader to accept Apple Pay payments from US visitors – and thus gets them up to speed for the product's market launch in Germany.

'Apple's payment service will give a real boost to payments with NFC and mobile payments in Germany too, as soon as it comes to market here,' says Patrick Bienen, co-founder of orderbird. 'We are delighted that our joint mobile payment solution is one of the first on the German market that can process transactions with Apple Pay,' adds Marcus W. Mosen, COO of ConCardis.

This underlines the commitment of both companies to mobile payment solutions at the point of sale. The chip-and-PIN-enabled card reader recently developed and introduced by the two partners enables secure card payments and contactless transactions by card or smartphone with NFC chip and is seamlessly integrated into the POS system.
